Stefano Bessoni is a film-maker, writer, illustrator and animator, passionate about entomology, anatomy, fairy tales and the history of science. His poetics sinks into the concept of wunderkammer and feeds on macabre suggestions that recall the uncanny.

He studied painting at the Academy of Fine Arts in Rome. After the feature films Fragments of Inexact Sciences, Imago Mortis and Krokodyle, he began to tell his stories with illustrated books and approached stop-motion animated cinema, being struck by it. He firmly believes in cinema as a form of expression and in auteur politics. His major points of reference are Peter Greenaway, the Quay brothers and Jan Švankmajer.

He has been a professor of film directing for many years and today he is coordinator and teacher of the three-year course in illustration and animation at IED Rome and teaches illustration, stop-motion animation and puppet making at Scuola Holden in Turin.

He has published many illustrated books, ranging from fairy tales to biographies of illustrious figures such as Charles Darwin and Cesare Lombroso, up to stories related to the wunderkammer and the manufacture of the alchemical homunculus. He wrote and drew the illustrated biographies of Peter Greenaway and Tim Burton. He does not despair of returning one day to making films, perhaps managing to hybridize the language of cinema with other forms of expression, mixing animation, illustration and filming with actors.
